Empowering Family Faith in our Community

Imagine if we could help the families of our parishes recognize that the ordinary (and extraordinary) experiences of their daily lives are connected to God and the Catholic faith!

This workshop is designed to explore practical ideas, strategies and resources that your parish can use to help families:

- become aware of the moments of meaning in their lives.
- filter their experiences through the lens of faith and spirituality.
- become aware of God's gracious presence in their lives . . . and respond to it.
- develop a faith "rapport" with one another.
- connect their informal faith experiences with the more formal religious practice of the community.
- become intentional about their desire to grow in faith

Leif Kehrwald has worked in family ministry and faith formation on the parish, diocesan, and national levels for over twenty-five years. Currently he serves as Project Coordinator for Family and Intergenerational Services for the Center for Ministry Development. Leif has published several books and numerous articles on family life, family ministry, marriage, and youth ministry. His latest book is Youth Ministry and Parents: Secrets for a Successful Partnership, Saint Mary's Press, 2004.

Leif has taught courses on family ministry, parish partnership and family spirituality at Loyola University (Chicago), University of Dayton and Mount Angel Seminary in Oregon. He received the 1992 National Association of Catholic Family Life Ministers Award for "serving as a voice and advocate for families and family ministry." He travels frequently throughout the country offering presentations and workshops on family faith development.

Leif and his wife, Rene, have two young adult sons and live in Portland, Oregon.
